Zeeland Hatcheryman Tops Baby Chick Class

Ronnie Robson, 4½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Robson of Allegan, was the victim of a tragic winter accident Monday. Ronnie was drowned accidentally when he apparently fell through the ice while playing near a pond not far from the family home. Mrs. Robson found the body.

Allegan Mother Finds Son's Body In Frozen Swamp

Allegan (Special) — Out of the more than 50 neighbors, Boy Scouts and others, who spent hours searching Monday afternoon for 4½-year-old Ronald Robson, it was his mother, Mrs. James Robson, who found him dead of drowning in a swail two blocks from their home.

The child had left his home at 11 a.m. A neighbor reported seeing him at play near the house at 12:30, but at 1 p.m., the family's usual lunch hour, he was missing. Mrs. Robson searched alone until 2 p.m. when she called her husband, an Allegan pharmacist, who joined her. An hour later they called on police for help.

Neighbors and workers coming off shift at Blood Brothers Machine Co., swelled the posse until at 5 p.m. more than 50 were searching the area.

But it was the lot of the boy's mother, accompanied by a neighbor, Mrs. Raymond Stough, to find the boy in a brushy swamp in two feet of water. The swamp is about 200 yards north of the White Welding shop in an undeveloped section of the Depot Hill area.

Headless of the icy water, Mrs. Robson waded out several yards to recover her son.

The same area had been covered at least twice before but underbrush obscured the body. He was taken to Allegan Health Center where physicians reported that he had been dead for some time. Coroner William Ten Brink attributed death to accidental drowning.

Officers said it appeared that Ronald had been playing on the ice and had broken through. Survivors are the parents, a sister, Judith Ann, at home; and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Mavis of Detroit, and Mrs. Ida Robson of Armada, Mich.

Zeeland (Special) — Jacob H. Geerlings, owner of Town Line Poultry Farm, route 1, Zeeland, was declared sweepstakes winner in the baby chick division judging at the 37th annual Michigan State college Farmers' Week Wednesday in East Lansing.

Town Line was one of several Holland and Zeeland area entries in the baby chick and egg divisions.

Fred E. Brummer of Brummer & Fredrickson Hatchery, route 6, Holland, placed first in the white rocks class of baby chicks, and Mrs. Adrian Blankamp, route 3, Zeeland, won top honors in the farmers white egg class. John Brandt, Jenison, placed second in the same class.

Record crowds are packing events at the annual fete, according to Geerlings. Hundreds were turned away from the half-dozen banquets Wednesday evening.

The entire board of directors of the Hamilton Farm Bureau attended events Wednesday and the Livestock banquet in the evening. Parking space is at a premium in the East Lansing area, these days, Geerlings said, and today's climax of Farmers' Week is expected to attract record-shattering turnouts.

Geerlings said he talked to an out-of-state visitor Wednesday and the man was amazed at the crowds of farmers and said it was by far the largest he ever saw at any affair. Michigan is unique in this respect, he told Geerlings.

There will be two "strip exercises" Saturday, the first will involve 25 to 30 observation posts in a strip including Kent, Barry, and Ionia counties. The second will include Muskegon, Newaygo and Ottawa counties.

Mayor and Other City Incumbents Seek Re-Election

Harrington Reluctant Over Three-Year Term; Four Petitions Filed

Petitions of four incumbents for re-election to city offices were on file Tuesday with City Clerk Clarence Greengood.

The officials are Mayor Harry Harrington, Associate Municipal Judge Jay H. Den Herder, Alderman John Beltman of the fourth ward and Alderman Robert Vischer of the sixth ward.

Petitions are being circulated for the fifth incumbent, Alderman LaVern Rudolph of the second ward, and are expected to be filed before the deadline at noon Saturday.

Unless more candidates file for public office between now and Saturday noon, there will be no city primary Feb. 18 and no contests in the city election in April, although an election must be held at that time.

Mayor Harrington deliberated long and earnestly before giving his permission to his backers to circulate petitions. In office for three years, he was reluctant to face another term of three years but pressure from his friends and urging from virtually all members of council brought about his consent. Ordinarily, the term of a mayor is two years, but the transition period under the new city charter calls for a three-year term this year.

Even Tuesday, Mayor Harrington made it clear that he would be glad to withdraw from the "race" if one or more well qualified persons were to seek the position. Petitions for Mayor Harrington were circulated largely by aldermen.

"It's not a one-man job to run a city, and the responsibilities of being mayor far exceed the honor," Mayor Harrington said. "Holland is what it is today because of what the people of Holland have made it, we must continue that fine type of co-operation," he said.

Harrington was appointed mayor three years ago when Bernard De Pree, then mayor, resigned to accept a position in Washington state. De Pree had been appointed mayor about a year earlier on the death of Mayor Ben Steffens. Harrington served as alderman of the first ward four years before he became mayor.

Mayor Harrington stems from an old Holland family which came here before the arrival of Dr. A. C. Van Raalte, Holland's founder, in 1847. On his first visit to Western Michigan, Dr. Van Raalte stayed in the home of Harrington's great-great grandfather, an early agricultural agent living south of what is now Holland.

Mayor Harrington is an active member of First Methodist church. Mrs. Harrington died in 1949. A son, Phil is currently in Arabia on assignment as a photographer for Look magazine. He lives in New York City.

He was killed in our last action and has been laid to rest in Pusan, Korea. The rest of us came out with torn uniforms and a few scratches."

"In a few hours we'll be moving up front again. We've been training for a 14-day period and are prepared for our next action. The Chinese are pounding our lines constantly with artillery fire, so there'll be quite some fireworks tonight. It's still very, very cold and this is no country to spend a vacation."

"We've taken some snaps of our platoon. The films are being developed in Tokyo and as soon as I have them back, I'll forward one to you. I'm writing this letter by candlelight."

Pvt. Mol started his letter thanking The Sentinel for the clipping it forwarded. "Thanks a million for the newspaper which reached me in due time and found our platoon in full training for combat. Dog tired but happy, we read it all together. I translated it for the boys and they, sure were proud to find their names in your paper."

Discussion Group Aids Farm Credit

Members of the Hamilton Discussion group met Friday evening at the John Albers home. Ben Lohman, chairman, presided.

Albers, county legislative chairman and group action committee member, presented some highlights of the institute at Lansing which he attended. He explained briefly how Powell and Ried work with the legislative and action committees and how emergencies are worked out.

The group discussed "Inflation and Farm Credit" and concluded that farmers should study their own income problems and should take the initiative to seek proper advice in the use of credit.

They agreed farm credit should be more carefully limited in relation of operating expenses to investment, and also that there is a greater need of credit to maintain production.

They concluded that high land values endanger agriculture, especially concerning young farmers getting started. But freedom to speculate is the right of any American citizen, and each should use his own judgment, they agreed.

The next meeting will be the last Friday in February at the John Klingenberg home.

The Fidelity-Phoenix fire insurance company, New York, and Louis Quade, Douglas, insurer and owner, respectively, of the damaged station, are suing the Gilliland Transfer company of Fremont, Mich., and John Lang, Sr., St. Louis, Mo., owners of the truck and car involved in the crash.

Quade and the insurance company seek damages totalling $25,000, including $3,761 for loss of the building. The plaintiffs charge that both of Philip Beeler, Newaygo, driver of the truck, and John Lang, Jr., driver of the car, were negligent and at fault in the accident. The complaint alleges that the Lang car failed to stop at a stop street and that the truck was going at too high a rate of speed.

Local Cage Teams Face Light Fare Of Home Contests

Churchill Covered Lot of Ground on Visit to U.S.

By JUNIUS B. WOOD

Many Americans disagree with Winston Churchill's purposes and policies but none doubts his rare power of persuasion and persistence.

The old battler, again prime minister of Britain, was received with this mixed spirit of confidence and skepticism during his recent weeks in the United States. Official statements have sketched or surmised the pacts or proposals between the United States and Britain. How this veteran of diplomacy and appeal goes about his task is equally impressive.

No other visitor to this country covers as much ground and as fast as Churchill does. He's figuratively always on the run. Ocean crossings by ship instead of airplane are the only exception.

No other emissary of a foreign government receives the same respectful attention from American officials and public. Private conferences with President Truman were the high level of his program. Congress convened its third joint session to hear him, a record exceeded only by our own presidents.

The society of the Cincinnati, of which he is a member, met in his honor. Its membership is limited to descendants of George Washington's ragged colonial officers. Lt. Reuben Murray, an ancestor of Churchill's American mother, fought the British. Alliances have changed since Washington's order at Valley Forge; "Put only Americans on guard tonight."

He found time to visit a group of wounded veterans, to dine or chat at various social functions, to hobnob with old friends and to meet newspaper people at a big noonday luncheon.

A striking evidence of his unique role is the approval of Churchill's intense nationalism by those Americans who belittle the same trait in their own fellow citizens. The welfare and future of Britain is his first and only objective. His wartime declaration: "I did not become prime minister to liquidate the British empire," still holds. For that he is hailed as a patriot.

In contrast, Americans who put their own country first are slightly called isolationists by those who would dissipate the nation's strength on distant dreams.

The contrast between Churchill and Clement Attlee, leader of the labor party who preceded him as prime minister, is an object lesson for all elected officials. With an audience, no matter what its size, Churchill appears frank and free as if talking to a friend. Attlee seems suspicious and distant as if among enemies. One man answers every question. The other studiously evades or rambles into confusion double talk.

Each man when in the national capital has spoken at a luncheon of the active newspaper and magazine men and women. Churchill has appeared more than once before from 500 to 1,000. Audiences were sharply inquisitive. Questions were profound and ridiculous.

"What is the role of woman in today's world?" flabbergasted even Churchill when popped into a serious discussion of world alliances, billion dollar budgets and plans for war.

Recovering his breath, he allowed that the role had not changed much in 4,000 years, at least, not during the 77 years that he has been in circulation.

His remarks were pointed but brief. "Impromptu, a less venomous form of oratory," as he explained with a smile. A full hour was left for questions. Nobody tipped out of the room. The give and take could have continued through the afternoon.

The prime minister's comments and opinions—there were no surprises—were befogged by official Washington's farcical fiction—"for background only." That means the speaker is not to be quoted. Each one of the hundreds who heard him can pontificate as an authority on high British policy but must not disclose that he got an idea from the prime minister.

Under these limitations, my private explanation of commonwealth program under a Churchill government, is:

1. Britain will stand firmly for a United States of Europe in a free world but will not meld or disperse its forces under an alien command.

2. Britain will surely pull through as it has in all crises through the centuries. It may not always repay loans but it may prevent them being collected.

3. To imagine a state can produce better than individuals can, is a fallacy disproven by the accomplishments of the United States, England and every other free enterprise republic.

4. Expensive military preparations and control of the atom bomb must continue in the face of communist Russia's threats to the freedom of other nations.

5. England will not abandon Ulster, a loyal base for American troops in the latest war. Nor does England doubt the loyalty of the Irish republic, 150,000 of whose citizens fought with the allies, and whose religious and economic beliefs oppose communism.

6. Elections arouse differences and harm a country but they are slight compared to the degradation of a nation and people without elections. Whether Truman, Eisenhower or another is chosen, there will always be the two great friendly nations.

Toastmaster Paul Wooten, wheelhorse of all press associations in Washington, rang the same hands across the sea chord with an eulogy of the two nations—one with might, the other with prestige. The spirited reply which that brave thought provoked, left no doubt that the other side of the Atlantic believes Britain still has might as well as prestige.

The toastmaster raised his hand to stop the questions. Churchill stood, bowing and smiling to applause. It was not a happy smile but serious with the weight of problems. He moved to the door, slower and showing the wear of the few devastating years since his previous visit. The spirit was undimmed and the aggressive friendliness was the same but there was a change. Those who had heard him so often asked themselves: "Is it 'Goodbye' or another 'till we meet again'?" Battles can be won but the years march on.

Dutch Forces Have Semester Vacation From Court Action

Hope defeated Ferris Institute 82-59 in a lack-lustre basketball game at the Armory Saturday night that was punctuated by a host of missed shots by both teams and a total of 57 foul calls.

It was the second time within a week that the Dutch tagged a defeat on non-conference Ferris, but it was a far cry from last Wednesday's game between the two schools when the locals rang up a record 100 points and the Bulldogs 73.

The Dutch now can enjoy a two-week layoff from the cage wars while the semester changes at the college. Next game is Feb. 9 when Alma comes to town to start the second round of MIAA activity.

As the tally sheet shows, neither team hit well from the floor. Hope made 33 out of 140 shots for just 23.5 per cent. Ferris didn't do as well, making only 19 out of 84 shots for a low 22.6 per cent.

The story was better at the foul line. Hope made 16 out of 31 attempts and Ferris 21 out of 34.

As the first quarter ended, fans thought Hope was out to repeat its point-making spree of earlier last week. Score was 27-13 in favor of the home team. Coach John Visser inserted a substitute team that was ice cold. Hope made just three points in the first five minutes of the second quarter. The regulars came back in with the court standing at 30-22, and the half ended a while later with the score a low 35-27. During that second period Hope made a meager two out of 37 field goals attempts.

Hope dilly-dallied for the opening minutes of the third quarter, then opened up to make it 50-37 and the period ended with the locals ahead 55-44. With Jun Bremer leading the way, the Dutch racked up 27 points in the final quarter.

Each team lost three men via the foul route. Hope's brilliant freshman center Bob Hendrickson was benched with five personals in the third quarter as was Ferris captain Ed Hamar. Don Piersma and Ken Van Regenmorter were benched for the same reason in the fourth quarter as were regulars Bill Fagerlund and Don Johnson for Ferris.

One of the brightest aspects of the victory was the point-production of Bremer for Hope. He ably took over pivot chores in the fourth quarter and started sinking those sweeping hook shots that are a wonderful sight to behold. Bremer ended up as high scorer for Hope with 17 points on five field goals and seven charity tosses.

Leno Pieropon was high man for the game. The chunky guard made eight field goals and seven free throws for 23 points.

Elenbaas-Jaarda Rites Read

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Elenbaas

In a wedding performed Tuesday evening in Prospect Park Christian Reformed church, Miss Joyce Jaarda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jaarda, 89 East 21st St., and Kenneth Elenbaas, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Elenbaas of 8 East Central, Zeeland, spoke their marriage vows.

The Rev. Richard De Ridder read the double ring rites at 8 p.m. before an altar banked with palms, ferns, large bouquets of calla lilies, pompons and snapdragons and candelabra.

An organ prelude was played by Miss Caroline Balford, who also accompanied Miss Arlene Mannes, who sang "Because" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown, patterned with a sheer marquisette yoke with scalloped edge, fitted bodice, long pointed sleeves and full skirt with cathedral train. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a tiara of orange blossoms and net. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and pompons.

Her single strand of pearls was a gift of the groom.

Mrs. Richard De Ridder, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a gown of blue net over taffeta and carried a bouquet of yellow roses and snapdragons and white pompons. Miss Ann Knoll and Mrs. Albert Kruitthoff, bridesmaids, wore blue gowns and carried bouquets of pink roses, pink snapdragons and white pompons.

Diane Kruitthoff, miniature bride, wore a white satin gown with long train, and a veil. She dropped rose petals in the bridal aisle. Gary Lee Jaarda, as miniature groom, wore a white suit.

Norman Rozema assisted the groom as best man. Ushers were Odell De Jong and Albert Kruitthoff.

A reception for 130 guests was held in the church parlors. The Misses Marian Van Dyke, Joan Van Dyke, Doan Meyer, Joan Glass, Betty Boeve and Mrs. Ruth Fraam served. A short program was presented.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Jaarda were master and mistress of ceremonies. Miss Ruth Van Dyke and Mrs. Howard Pieper were in charge of the gift room and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wolters presided at the punch bowl.

The newlyweds left on a brief wedding trip and now are at home at 81 East Central, Zeeland.

The groom's parents entertained at a rehearsal dinner at Bosch's restaurant and several pre-nuptial showers were given for the bride. Hostesses were Mrs. John Elenbaas, Mrs. Edward Jaarda, Mrs. Richard De Ridder and Mrs. Albert Kruitthoff.

Dutch Reserves Lose to Tigers

Benton Harbor (Special)—Benton Harbor's league leading reserve basketball squad won its fifth conference game of the season here Friday night by drubbing the Holland second squad, 53-35.

The winners jumped into a 13-9 lead at the first quarter and kept lengthening their lead throughout the game. A blistering third period attack in which the Junior Tigers hit 22 points really cinched the decision.

Meanwhile, Coach Bob Connell's crew never got an offensive rolling. For example, in the second quarter the Dutch cagers were blanked on field goals and stayed in the contest at the half only on the strength of six free throws.

Tall center Gene Weaver of Benton Harbor grabbed scoring honors for the evening with 19 points.

Dick Plagenhoef turned in the outstanding game for Holland, and led the Dutch with 15 points. Paul Mack caught eight markers—seven in the final period—while Ron Israels had seven and Bob Van Dyke four.

Cavemen ate sulphur to cleanse their blood.

Pvt. James A. Doornewerd, left, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Doornewerd, 136 West 33rd St., and Pvt. Kenneth L. Behrendt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Behrendt, route 4, have been graduated from the XVI Corps Food Service school at Camp Schimmelpenninck, Japan, according to a release from the Army Home Town News center. The school was initiated last September as a means of furnishing trained personnel for Army mess halls in the Far East command. During the eight-week course, the men were instructed in all phases of nutrition, sanitation, field cooking and mess management. Both men entered the Army in May, 1951, and arrived in Japan last October.

Bears Keep Record Unspotted Despite Late Maroon Spurt

St. Joseph, the state's top-ranked class B basketball club, continued on its winning way at the Holland Armory Friday night. But only after a last quarter scare did they subdue Holland Christian 52-40.

It was the ninth straight victory for the undefeated Bears, while it was Christian's sixth loss in 11 starts.

Although Coach Art Tuls' local club never led in the game, they were in striking distance all the way. In fact with six minutes left in the fray, the Maroons narrowed the gap to 38-36. The Bears looked a little bewildered at this point, but Christian couldn't take advantage of the situation.

Even though the Hollanders did go down in defeat, there were compensating features. The Maroons held down the high scoring Bears and actually got away more shots than the winners. As it was, St. Joe scored only one more basket from the field. But at the foul line is where the story of the outcome lies. The Bears went to the line 17 more times than did the locals, making good on 16 out of 31 tries. Christian connected on six in only 14 attempts.

Complimenting the Maroons after the game, Coach Ray Haack of St. Joe said, "There is the finest ball club we have met this year. You certainly can see that you play tough competition."

If an observer were to single out the victory formula of the Bears, it would have to be that the entire five men are opportunists in every sense of the word. They take advantage of every situation and every mistake of the opponent, usually turning it into two points. Add to this five men who can shoot as well as rebound, and you have a winning ball club.

One sample of how the Bears can shoot on occasion was given by Dwight Riemersma, lanky forward. With his club leading by only two points in the final quarter he sank four out of four long one handers to ice the victory. Previous to this exhibition, he had hit three out of three to make seven out of seven tries at the hoop in the second half alone.

Another thorn in the side of the Dutch was big Paul Weber, Bear center. When he wasn't fouled, he usually scored. Two Maroons, Earl Schipper and Jim Kok, went out on fouls trying to guard the tricky Weber.

Tony Diekema was the offensive star for the Dutch as he wormed his way through for 17 markers. In addition, he turned in a great defensive job on John Gersonde, St. Joe captain, limiting him to just two field goals.

The winners started out at a rapid pace, but had cooled off considerably at the end of the first period to lead the Dutch by a 14-9 margin. Christian spearheaded by Diekema outscored the Bears in the second period to trail 23-19 at halftime.

At one point in the third quarter, St. Joe held a 10 point lead but the Tulsmen narrowed it to 38-32 at the third quarter horn. Then came the Christian spurt which nearly overtook the faltering Bears. However Riemersma and Co. pulled themselves together to win by their biggest margin of the tilt.

Riemersma led his team with 19 tallies, while Weber ran second with 15 points. Diekema led the Maroons with 17 points, followed by Jim Kok with nine.

Radial Engine Installed At Zeeland Power Plant

Zeeland (Special)—A huge new Nordberg radial engine was moved into the Zeeland city power plant Thursday, to take its place besides five other power-generating engines.

The new motor will increase the plant's power capacity by about one-third—from the present 3,316 kilowatts to 4,486 kilowatts.

City fathers decided to buy the cylindrical engine last spring because those engines now in use were gradually falling below the ever-increasing demand for power.

City Superintendent Robert Fricke explained the situation like this: The plant's firm power is figured by total power output minus the production of the largest engine. This formula would keep the city satisfied even if the largest engine was out of order. But Zeeland's firm power was running perilously close to the actual demand, and in some cases the demand outran the firm. So an increase in power capacity was the only solution.

Fricke explained that the peak load arrived at 11:45 a.m. Monday when 2,410 kilowatts were used. Loads last spring during the hatching season ran around 2,400, and estimated loads this spring will be about 2,700. Without the new engine, the plant's firm power is only 2180. With the new engine, the firm power is 3,316 kilowatts, so Zeeland is ahead of the game again.

The radial type engine is only the second one installed for municipal use in Michigan, Fricke pointed out. The first was put in by Marshall a few months ago.

A new Nordberg radial engine is being installed at the Zeeland city power plant, in order to meet ever-increasing demands for power. The new type engine, just recently adapted for municipal production, is fashioned along the lines of an airplane motor. Originally, the cylindrical motors were built especially for Alcoa for its southern production. Cost of the new engine is about $140,000, and the 50 by 25 foot addition built to house it cost another estimated $25,000.

TAMING THE GREAT LAKES

Because of the interest that has been aroused in the lake shore erosion problem, two Illinois congressmen have introduced bills in the house that are designed to "tame the Great Lakes." They are only using the erosion issue to win support from the people of the states adjoining the devastated shorelines; what they are really after is to solve an Illinois problem.

The proposed measures would allow the withdrawal of 3,500 cubic feet of water a second to flush the DesPlaines river, instead of the 1,500 cubic feet to which the Chicago sewage disposal organization is now limited. The two Illinois congressmen figure that such an increase would make the DesPlaines river "a clean stream in which fish can live." At present it is a stream that barely is able to move Chicago's sewage.

Twenty years ago, when Charles Evans Hughes was chief justice of the supreme court, Chicago made a fight for the withdrawal of a larger volume of water from the lakes. It was at that time that the limit was placed at 1,500 cubic feet per second. All the states adjoining the lakes fought bitterly against an increase, and many court battles were staged in an attempt to decrease the volume. The lake levels were sinking in those days, harbor depths were getting dangerously low, property was being destroyed or menaced. All those evils were blamed on the Chicago drainage canal.

Now, for the moment at least, the shoe is on the other foot. Shorelines are being destroyed by high water. Harbor basins all along the lakes are full to overflowing. In some harbors dock installations are being submerged. Property is being destroyed and values to the tune of millions of dollars are being menaced.

It is against this background that the two Illinois congressmen are proposing their legislation. By taking the short view it would be easy to find arguments for passing the bills. But who is going to assure congress that the rising water level is going to continue? Where are the engineers wise enough to control nature? Congress may know a lot about politics, but that's child's play compared with the job of coping with nature's moods. At the very least the Washington lawmakers should be slow to jump at conclusions as to taming the Great Lakes. There are many problems. The Army engineers are paid with our tax dollars to handle such problems. Our congressmen have started the ball to create a body to try and find the answer.

Sunday School Lesson

February 3, 1932
The Woman Who Was Forgiveness
Luke 7:36-50
By Henry Geerlings

It is a long time since this passage was used for a Sunday school lesson, but it is a wonderful passage setting forth the grace of God in salvation. There are three persons involved and all three are portrayed in the parable to Simon.

This woman in the city was Mary Magdalene. It was she out of whom seven devils were cast. It was she who stood at the foot of the cross and at the sepulchre, weeping. It was probably not a great many hours before that the news had for the first time resounded through that town that the Prophet of Nazareth and His disciples were entering its gates. In no quarter of the town had this intelligence been received with keener interest than in that of which this woman was an inhabitant.

Already Jesus was known as the friend of publicans and sinners. He had not refused to eat and drink with those whom it was usual to classify as much. He had called a publican from his desk to be enrolled among his chosen disciples. In some the news awakened the hope of deliverance from a miserable bondage of which they had often felt the burden, who yet, not knowing whether to look for help, had straightly plunged the deeper into their sins.

The woman that was a sinner was one of them. This was her opportunity. She hastened to find her way to Jesus, and soon was in the midst of the crowd that surrounded Him. Nearer and nearer she pressed. There were no Pharisees in that close throng. It would be beneath their dignity. And besides, by close contact with this people, their holiness would be defiled. So without encountering frown, the poor woman pressed on till she came within clear sight and distinct hearing of Jesus.

Her conduct seemed strange to Simon, but it all was a confession of sin and a sign of repentance. She did not come as an equal and attempt to sit at the table as Simon did. She took the place of humility at the Savior's feet. Her tears did not wash away her sins, they expressed her sorrow for sin. And in that is the indication of her repentance, not merely expressed in a feeling of sorrow but in an indication of a complete change of mind in relation to her sins. They were no longer a pleasure to be desired but an evil to be shunned.

Simon was a perfectly self-satisfied man. He was on good terms with himself. It was a sense of superiority that caused his scanty hospitality towards Christ. He seemed to have no thought that any point in his character could be marked out for reproach. There did not lurk in his breast the faintest suspicion that he could be hinted at in our Lord's brief parable of the two debtors when he calmly answered to the question who loved most. This led him to feel a secret contempt for enthusiasm, and horror instead of pity for the woman that was a sinner.

He utterly failed to understand the overmastering love which did not wrap itself in its own integrity, but went out to seek and to save that which was lost. And so he loved little. He was good to a certain point, but he did not go far enough. He needed conviction of sin as much as the outcast and sinner. He needed his heart to be smitten with the Cross, as Moses smote the rock, that streams of love and pity might flow forth.

Wonderful and gracious were the words falling from the lips of Jesus. It was He who said that the whole have no need of a physician but they that are sick. It was He who taught that there is joy in the presence of the angels over one sinner who repenteth. It was He who spoke the parable of the Prodigal Son. It was He who wept over Jerusalem. He showed a way of escape for every sinner. He testified of the tender mercy of the Father to all who turn to Him in words of all but irresistible pathos and love. He proclaimed Himself as sent from the Father to bring sinners back to God. Such was the preaching which the case of the sinful woman required.

But yet the Savior had not spoken to her personally. Till this was done her heart could not rest. Her mourning could not end though the bitterness and agony of her grief were removed. Her heart could not be fully reassured nor could she confidently take her place among the pardoned until the Master should have proclaimed her accepted.

We can think of no higher blessing than that which the Lord pronounced on her—"Go, and enter into peace; thy faith hath saved thee," and that is the blessing. He gives to every sinner who truly turns to Him.

League Tourney Slated Next Week By Al-Van Circuit

The Al-Van league will sponsor a mid-season basketball tournament for the first time this year, and league officials will be looking at all angles of the outcomes in hopes of making the seven-team meet an annual affair.

Site of the inaugural tournament will be Gobles high school's new gym, and games will be played on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday of next week—Feb. 5, 7 and 9.

The tournament will be run on a championship-consolation basis, with first round winners riding out the string toward the championship and losers going into the other bracket toward the consolation prize.

In first round pairings announced recently, Fennville drew the only bye. Saugatuck will oppose Lawrence in this same upper bracket.

In the lower bracket, Bloomington will face Lawton, and Covert has drawn the unenviable assignment of taking on league-leading Gobles.

Games on the first two nights will get underway at 6:30.

Officials assigned to work the Al-Van tournament are Harve Butler and Clare Van Lier of Holland, Herk Butler of Kalamazoo and Bob Peckham of Allegan.

League teams will adjourn from their regular schedules after Feb. 1 games for the tournament, and will take up their regular slates again on Feb. 12.

Red-Hot Hopkins Downs Saugatuck

Saugatuck (Special)—A red-hot Hopkins high school squad snatched Saugatuck's string of four straight basketball victories Tuesday night at Hopkins, 67-46.

The Bar-Ken-Al league leaders hit on an amazingly high percentage of their shots, while Coach Harley Henderson's Indians were the other way—"we couldn't hit our hat," the coach commented.

Several times Saugatuck charged into a threatening position just four or five points back, but each time Hopkins pulled away to win in a walk.

The winners led all the way, posting period scores of 15-9, 31-20 and 45-31.

Bruce Greene of Saugatuck and Jim Newell of Hopkins split top scoring honors for the evening with 22 points each.

Other Saugatuck scorers were Kim Greene nine, Bill Bale, six, Ralph Troutman five, and Howard Schultz and Bruce Troutman two each.

The Hopkins reserves overpowered the Indian Paposes, 60-16. Diepenhorst and Kosierek each scored five points to monopolize Saugatuck scoring.

Dr. Hinkamp Taking Course at Oak Ridge

Dr. James B. Hinkamp, research supervisor with the Ethyl Corp., is among 32 research workers who are in Oak Ridge, Tenn., attending a four-week course in the techniques of using radioisotopes in research. The course is conducted by the special training division of Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, an educational organization comprising 29 southern universities. The course ends this week.

Dr. Hinkamp is a son of the Rev. and Mrs. Paul E. Hinkamp of Holland. He is a graduate of Hope college and has a doctor's degree from Ohio State university. He is a member of several chemical and science societies and honorary fraternities. He has written several articles, published in scientific journals.

The radioisotope program, now in its fourth year, is designed to teach research workers how to use this new research tool—which emits radiation, which has been called the most important research development since the invention of the microscope. Radioisotopes are widely used as tracers in complicated chemical and biological processes.

This picture of railroad workers shoveling a road for a locomotive through snow eight and nine feet deep was taken exactly 34 years ago Monday on Jan. 28, 1918. It was submitted by John Volkers of Hamilton who is in the foreground with shovel in the air.

Feel Abused About Snow This Year? It's Nothing Like the Snow of 1918

So you thought we had snow this season?

Think again. That 70-90 inches of snow that came and went since Nov. 2 can't hold a candle to the granddaddy of all local storms back in January, 1918, when snow piled up eight and nine feet.

John Volkers of Hamilton, who was working with the Pere-Marquette railway in those days, submitted a series of postcard pictures showing operations in digging a "road" for the train to run.

The toughest stretch where the pictures were taken was about two miles south of Holland where the "cut" was so deep and the snow piles so high there was no place to throw the snow as it was shoveled out.

So the company sent out a work train of flat cars and a crew of workers (including Volkers) to dig out the road. When the cars were full of the hand shoveled snow, the train would return to Waverly and dump the snow in the dump.

The pictures were taken on Jan. 28, 1918, exactly 34 years ago Monday.

Some Veterans, Widows Eligible For Tax Exemption

Local veterans of the Spanish-American war and unmarried widows of veterans of any war may apply for $2,000 property tax exemption until the middle of March, City Assessor William Koop announced Saturday.

Service personnel on active duty now or their representatives may apply for exemption at any time, he added.

But he explained there are certain qualifications for the exemption. For a widow to be eligible for the exemption, her late husband must have served in the armed forces at least three months and must have received an honorable discharge.

Eligible applicants also must own property as of Jan. 1 and total property assessment must not exceed $7,500.

Only veterans of World Wars I and II who are receiving compensation from the Veterans Administration are eligible.

The Homestead Act also requires that veterans must own and occupy the property, and applications for exemptions must be filed every year. Last year 105 persons were granted exemptions in Holland city.

The assessor's office is mailing application forms to those veterans and widows who were eligible last year for exemptions. Others should call for the necessary blanks at the city assessor's office.

GRANDSTANDING...

By Dick Millman
How does the closing of a cigar store in Owosso affect Holland folks?

Most people would say that it doesn't. But when Big Andy and Little Andy Greene went out of the cigar store business in Owosso recently, it brought back some fond memories for Holland area baseball fans, like Pres Manting.

Big Andy Greene, also known as Bull Greene, used to do quite a little baseball umpiring around Michigan, and he was an umpire in the old Michigan State league of which Holland was a member. E. W. Dickerson and his brother, Forrest, ran the Holland club at that time, according to our information.

The Greene establishment in Owosso, which moved out to make room for a chain store development, was the headquarters for Owosso sport fans for 33 years. Among the store's customers was an oldtime ball player named Ed Smith, who pitched for the old Holland Independents in the early 1900's.

It seems as though sports promotions and benefit performances go hand in hand. Besides the annual Holland-Grand Haven All-star basketball game coming up, with the March of Dimes fund campaign as beneficiary, several other Michigan cities have planned polo benefits.

On Feb. 4 at Grand Haven, a special wrestling match will be held to aid the drive for polio funds. Grand Haven and Spring Lake firemen, policemen and other volunteers are helping arrange the event. Wrestlers on the card will be Lou Klein against Paul Orth and Johnny Gates against Russ Bishop. The windup will be the Australian tag team match.

And in Niles, a special basketball game for the benefit of the polio drive will pit a team of high school faculty members against the Niles high state champion squad of 1922-23. Even Mayor Leonard Thompson of Niles will get into the act as referee. Included on the roster of the old time champs will be John Clevenger, well known in cage officiating circles in these parts.

Mrs. Fred Wallbridge of Fruitport appeared an 18½ pound pike on Spring Lake near Fruitport recently. The pike measured 40½ inches long and 20 inches around. Mrs. Wallbridge was fishing from within a shanty.

In five non-conference games with Hillsdale college so far this season, Ron Appledorn of Holland has scored 18 points for the Dales. Don will be eligible for MIAA play starting the second semester. Incidentally, two Dale cagers—Forward Tom Walsh and center Dick Gettings—are responsible for about half of Hillsdale's 620 points scored in 11 games this season. Walsh has collected 198 points and Gettings 108.

Enough is enough, Coach Frank Maples of Britton high school decided last week. In the fourth quarter the Britton game with Deerfield, the score was 76-27, with Britton behind. So Coach Maples yanked his team off the floor with about seven seconds remaining to be played. Little Six conference officials now have to decide what the final score was—76-27 or 2-0, the usual forfeit score.

An all-star team from the Albion college fraternity league will meet the Briton Jayvees in the preliminary to the Albion-Michigan Normal game next month. Last year, the frat stars defeated the junior Britons in a close game.

Most recent weekly ratings of class "A" high school basketball squads by the Detroit Free Press put Holland in sixth place. Ahead of the Dutch are Detroit Cass, Highland Park, Ferndale, Grand Rapids Union and Flint Northern.

Junior League to Support Girls Town in Michigan

Members of the Junior Welfare league adopted plans to support a new project at a meeting Tuesday night at the Woman's Literary club house.

They will help give financial support to a Girls Town project, being sponsored by the Federated Women of Michigan. Mrs. George Northouse of Grand Haven, representing the Federated Women, presented plans for the Girls Town at a league meeting last week. She announced that the state organization has an option on a site located between Grayling and Gaylord in northern Michigan. A former club property, the site has accommodations for 200 girls immediately.

Mrs. Northouse said that the set-up will be similar to that of Boys Town in Nebraska. The "town" will be a home for delinquent and homeless girls. She said that the towns of Grayling and Grayling are enthusiastic about the project and have offered many ways to help. She expressed the great need for such a project in Michigan. Girls who live in Michigan would be accepted first for residence, she said, and later out-of-state girls might be accepted the same as boys are chosen for residence at Boys Town.

The magazine "Inside Michigan" was shown by Mrs. Northouse and league members will sell subscriptions to the magazine in this area to support the project. Other business considered by the league included further plans for a children's fair, to be staged for grade school children on Saturday, April 5, at the Armory. Movies, booths and other entertainment will be provided. Mrs. Gerard Cook and Mrs. Andrew Vollink will be in charge of booths and entertainment. Miss Doris Marcus, finance and Misses Phyllis Ver Plank and Eleanor Smith, publicity. The Horizonettes, ninth grade Camp Fire Girls, have offered to assist in the care of children at the fair as a public service project.

Mrs. Loren Howard and Mrs. John Eschbagger, Jr., are co-chairmen of the new girls' project, which will be a benefit bridge and canasta party on Feb. 26.

After the business session, members worked on Dutch costume patterns, their Tulip Time project. They announced that patterns will be available soon.

C&O Introduces 'Chessie-Trays'

To serve "dinner in the diner" cheaper, the Chesapeake and Ohio railway will introduce new "Chessie-Tray" meals of pre-cooked, frozen foods on its Pere Marquette streamliners, according to Thomas J. Deegan, Jr., vice president of passenger traffic and public relations.

The service will begin Feb. 5 on the Chicago-Grand Rapids run. As more diners are equipped to provide meals, the service will be extended to Detroit, Deegan said. The special streamlined lounge diner will operate on train 8, northbound from Chicago, and train 3, southbound from Grand Rapids. Train 8, leaving Chicago at 5:20 p.m., will serve a "Chessie-Tray" dinner and No. 3, leaving Grand Rapids at 8 a.m., will serve the "Chessie-Tray" breakfast.

The frozen food comes in individual servings in the aluminum platters sealed under foil, and is quickheated to order in an electric oven. It is served at the table on a compartmented tray with soup or appetizer, salad, roll and butter, dessert and beverage. Prices are about 40 per cent less than standard dinner prices for the same items. Entrees include chicken pot pie, spaghetti and meat balls, braised beef, swordfish and Swiss steak.

Driver Slightly-Hurt as Train Demolishes Truck

Zeeland — Lloyd Kraak, 21, of 145 Clover, Holland, received only minor injuries when the coal truck he was driving skidded on icy pavement into the side of a C and O freight train at the State St. crossing Tuesday afternoon.

The 37 model truck, owned by the Kraak Coal Co. of Zeeland, was dragged about 100 feet down the tracks and was demolished. The driver, a nephew of the company owner, received face cuts, body bruises and a broken thumb, and was released after treatment in Huizinga Memorial hospital.

Zeeland Raises $1,000 So Far In Polio Drive

Zeeland — Zeeland area to date has collected between $900 and $1,000 in its current campaign to raise $1,500 toward the county March of Dimes, quota of around $37,500, according to Charles Zerrip who heads the committee of the Zeeland Kiwanis club in charge of the drive.

The downtown plank Saturday yielded another $250 in the campaign, bringing a total of $545.70 on the two occasions the Kiwanians carried the campaign downtown.

And Thursday night, Zeeland mothers will contribute their efforts by staging a "mothers' March." About 40 Zeeland mothers will start out at 7 p.m. and call at all places burning porch lights. Fire sirens will signal the drive.

Zerrip said one of the largest gifts to the Zeeland campaign came from a father whose young son died of polio about two years ago. Henry Steenwyk of Zeeland area presented Zerrip with five $20 bills, and said he'd like to contribute more. The Steenwyk youngster had been cared for by the Ottawa county chapter during his illness. The child's death resulted from complications caused by pneumonia.

Allegan Agent Gives Dairymen Hints on Milking

High Production Comes From Expert Handling At Milking Time

Allegan (Special) — Proper milking methods can increase milk production 10 to 12 per cent and lengthen the period of highest production, according to A. D. Morley, county agricultural agent.

Good methods also result in cleaner milk with lower bacteria counts, and are effective in preventing mastitis.

The agent said that fast milking is proper milking. Start off the milking process by washing and massaging the udder with warm disinfectant solution. He recommends doing it about a minute before hooking up the milker. It will help the milk flow and clean the udder at the same time. Immediately after massaging, strip two or three streams of milk into a cup to check for possible signs of mastitis. This also helps to get rid of the high bacteria count milk that is present in the teats.

Preventing udder injuries through careful operation of milking machines cannot be overemphasized, Morley said. Fast milking doesn't mean speeding up the milker, it means speeding up the operator.

Don't leave the milking machine on too long. Some dairymen use a timer to guard against this. After milking the cows day after day the time can usually be estimated for each cow. Experiments show that hand stripping is unnecessary on most cows and should be avoided. Machine stripping can be done by pulling down on the teat cups with one hand stripping while massaging the udder with the other.

Morley reminds farmers that time is important to cows. They should be milked in order, taking easy milkers first and cows with udder infections last. Milk at the same time each day.

Local Resident Is 96 Years Old

James Ver Houw, one of Holland's oldest residents, is now in his 97th year after celebrating his 96th birthday anniversary Jan. 23 with a family party in his home at 519 Michigan Ave. He was born Jan. 23, 1856, in the Netherlands and came to this country in 1881.

His health was described as "pretty well," in fact, well enough for two parties, one on his anniversary in his home with his children, grandchildren and great grandchildren, and another Monday night which was a neighborhood party at the William Oonk home at 40 West 22nd St.

Throughout the years, his garden has been his main diversion and he raised 47 different varieties of vegetables on a 60 by 125-foot plot which he spades by hand. He retired at 78 after working at the local tannery, with the park department and as a huckster.

He is believed to be the second oldest resident in Holland. The eldest is believed to be Mrs. Kate Michmehuisen of 399 College Ave. who marked her 98th anniversary less than two weeks ago on Jan. 15. Open house was held on that occasion and many friends and relatives gathered in her home.

GRANDSTANDING...

The first of the two-game inter-city all-star basketball series between players from the Grand Haven and Holland city leagues will be played Thursday night, with the Ottawa county March of Dimes campaign for polio funds as the beneficiary.

Thursday's game will be played at the Grand Haven high school gym. The return game is set for Feb. 16 at the Holland Armory.

This will be the third year the two cities have co-operated in the polio games. In 1950, the two teams split the series and $240 was raised for polio. In 1951, Holland won both games and $210 was collected for the March of Dimes.

Among the Grand Haven all-stars will be Chuck Hamm, Don Constant, Bob Fettes, Neal Ralya, Dean Misner, Tom Garzelloni, Ed Boeve, Ken Clark, Jim Bol, Howie Zuidema, Fred Kalsbeek, Lyle Lampton, Jim Ribbink and Ken Ennenga.

Bob Borman of Allen's and Norm Japiga of Fox are team managers.

Holland high took a jump in the class A rating system conducted by the Detroit Times this week. The Dutch squad moved up to fourth place behind Highland Park, Detroit Cass and Grand Rapids Union. All three of these squads are undefeated, so far.

Following Holland in the first 10 are Ferndale, Grand Rapids Christian, Ann Arbor, Flint Northern, Kalamazoo and East Detroit.

St. Joseph, which defeated Holland Christian here last week, still tops class B. St. Louis leads in class C, and Fowler is tops in class D.

In case you're interested, the United Press high school ratings are published on each Thursday, the Times' selections on Sunday, and the Detroit Free Press ratings on Tuesday.

At the halfway point in the MIAA basketball race, at least five players are ahead of the pace set by Hope's Russ De Vette a few years ago when the Dutch star established the league single season scoring record of 166 points.

John Porter of Albion and Tom Walsh of Hillsdale each has scored 100 points in five games, Manny Glasser of Kalamazoo 93, and Bud Healey and Kirk Hamilton of Alma have 85 and 84 points each. Those point totals doubled all come out to more than 166.

Highest man on the MIAA scoring front for Hope this season is Bob Visser with 77 points in seventh place in the league. Ron Bos has 74 points for 10th spot.

Others in the top 20 scorers are Bob Hendrickson with 73 and Jerry Jacobson with 55.

The Zeeland high-Cornstock Park game, postponed from Dec. 21 because of blizzard-like weather, has been rescheduled for Feb. 12 at Cornstock Park.

Holland Man Will Oppose Fred Alger For Nomination

Lieutenant Governor Says Many Citizens Urged Him to Run

William C. Vandenberg

Lansing — Lt. Gov. William C. Vandenberg, Holland, Friday announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor.

Vandenberg's announcement assured at least a two-man race for the top place on the GOP ticket next fall since Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, Jr., previously declared he would seek the gubernatorial nomination.

Vandenberg, a 67-year-old retired Holland oil dealer, was elected lieutenant governor in 1950 and now is completing his second year in office. Previously, he served three terms in the senate representing the Ottawa-Muskegon senatorial district.

Vandenberg's announcement had been expected. Nominating petitions to place his name in the GOP gubernatorial race have been in circulation for several weeks.

"During the past several months I have been asked many times by citizens from all sections of the state—from all walks of life—to seek the Republican nomination for governor in 1952," Vandenberg declared.

"The offers of support—moral and financial—have been many. It is with real humility that I acknowledge these expressions of confidence and I am deeply grateful. With an even greater humility I thank the people of Michigan who elected me as their lieutenant governor."

"In view of the foregoing I feel that the time has come to state my position."

"I have no personal fortune to spend in a gubernatorial campaign, but I have always believed that the people of Michigan—people whose sole interest is—as is my own—in better government, are in the majority, and because I believe this am announcing that, God willing, I will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor in the primary."

Vandenberg said that at the close of the present legislative session he will set forth his program.

"I will give of myself vigorously and unstintingly to foster and promote better government," Vandenberg asserted.

"I have made this decision without obligation or malice to any individual, group or faction. My only obligation will ever be to do the best job I know how to do to serve the whole people of our great state of Michigan."

Wife Thrilled At Announcement

Holland — The wife of Lt. Gov. William C. Vandenberg, who announced Friday he would seek the GOP gubernatorial nomination, said today that her husband "made up his own mind."

"I didn't know whether he was going to run or not, although I was pleased and thrilled," Mrs. Vandenberg declared.

"I wasn't sure until Thursday that he was going to run. I take care of the house and he runs his own affairs," she said.

The Vandeborgs are parents of two children, William C., Jr., and Mrs. John Daniels, both of Holland, and have six grandchildren.

The restoration of Williamsburg, Va., has cost more than $33 million and consists of some 350 buildings.

A new section of Saugatuck high school is taking shape these days to replace the facilities destroyed in the midnight fire of March 28, 1950. Supt. L. H. Waugh expects the addition to be ready for use by next September. Shown above is the first steel to be erected for the construction, although the concrete floors have been laid for the entire 265 feet by 50 feet addition. The new building will add $220,000 to the school system; the building is valued at $205,000, and its equipment will cost another $15,000. Eight rooms will be included—three elementary rooms, home economics department and cafeteria, science room, library, commercial department, shop and offices. Construction was authorized at a special bond election on Oct. 17, 1950, and the contract was let in March of 1951. Holland High Club Continues at Top Of Loop Standings

Benton Harbor (Special) — Holland high school continued today to ride the crest of the Southwestern conference basketball standings following an uphill 62-52 victory over Benton Harbor here Friday night.

The alert underdog Tigers, winners of only one game this season, took advantage of every break and every mistake committed by the lax Dutchmen in the first half, and made the score a deadlocked 22-22 at the half.

But paced by the accurate floor shooting of Frank Van Dyke and Tom Maentz, Holland roared back with a vengeance in the third stanza to pour through 21 points—just one less than they made in the entire first half. From there on in, Holland rode downhill to their eighth victory in nine starts this season.

The Dutch cagers of Coach Fred Weiss were slow in starting and almost four minutes went by before Maentz registered Holland's first field goal. Accurate free throw shooting had kept the Dutch in contention up to that point, and although scoring only three baskets, Holland established a narrow 14-13 lead at the first whistle.

In the low-scoring second period, Benton Harbor controlled both backboards and limited Holland's shots to about one each time. In the meantime, Tom Piggott and Bill Grall kept driving through the Dutch defenses for lay-up shots that brought the Harborites into a half-time 22-all tie.

Then came the third stanza, in which the Dutch connected on 10 of 21 field goal attempts to set a blazing pace. The Tigers picked up tempo, too, and Holland outscored Benton Harbor, 21-14, to take a third period 43-36 lead. Besides the accurate shooting, other third period features for Holland included more active work under both boards by Maentz, Van Dyke, Dean Vander Wal and Gordon Hulst, plus intensified defensive action by Alden Klomparsen in blocking shots by the driving Piggott.

The fourth period was much the same as the third, with Holland connecting on eight of 20 field goal tries. The Dutch extended their lead to the final 10-point advantage.

The guard combinations used by Coach Don Farnum's Tigers almost spelled defeat for the Dutch. Using two sets of guards successfully, the Harborites utilized the driving lay-up shot by Piggott, Grall, Frank Valle and Bob Stevens to amass 29 points from the guard positions. Piggott was high point man with 17 markers.

Holland used a well-distributed scoring offense, headed by Maentz and Van Dyke with 17 and 16 points respectively. Van

Sportsmen Crowd Longfellow Gym At Fishing Meet

Expert on Fisheries Explains State Program On Restocking Streams

More than 300 persons crowded into Longfellow gymnasium Tuesday night for the second of a series of conservation film-lectures, sponsored by the Holland Adult Education program and the Holland Fish and Game club, in co-operation with the Michigan Conservation department. All available chairs of the building were utilized and several stood for the program.

Edward H. Bacon, district fisheries supervisor, from Plainwell, explained current methods of restocking streams with trout and said the department no longer plants bluegills or bass except in specific places where lakes have been cleaned out.

He said careful research has resulted in the current program of planting legal sized fish in carefully investigated locations instead of the old method some years ago when fingerlings were planted wherever there was a request. He said the biggest payoff in research came this year when rainbow trout breeders through a selective breeding program over 18 years now spawn in November instead of in the spring.

He emphasized that Michigan's 11,000 lakes and 36,000 miles of streams are the state's most valuable asset and that fishing and the tourist and resort activity are second only to the big automotive industry in Michigan.

"We must protect our streams and lakes from pollution, and the time is coming when the Water Resources commission will operate a program in which any water dumped into a stream or lake is as clear and pure as the water taken from that stream for industrial purposes," he said.

He punctured a few fallacies on fishing too, stating that certain types of "pollution" are not at all injurious to fish life, and even in Lake Macatawa some years ago, bigger and more healthy fish were found in the places where fishermen thought wastes had poisoned all fish life.

"And you can't 'fish out' a lake," he told the sportsmen. He said only 40 per cent of fish planted are caught in any current year, yet only 2 per cent are carried over to the next year. He said researchers are working to find out what happens to the other 58 per cent.

Considerable discussion was given on the sea lamprey problem. He said the department has designed a weir which can keep the sea lamprey from going upstream to spawn, but such an overall program would not be feasible. He described the lamprey as an eel-like creature which attaches itself to a fish, rasps a hole through the skin and through a non-coagulating secretion in the mouth keeps taking the blood and juices from the fish. When the fish is so weakened that the blood no longer is desirable, the lamprey goes on to other prey.

Bacon said a lamprey mark on a game fish is not at all injurious to the health of those who eat the fish. He said lampreys prefer trout and whitefish, but when those species are low they will take other fish, even suckers and bullheads. A single sturgeon was found to have 30 lampreys attached. The male lamprey can grow to 33 inches. The female is smaller.

"Of course, man is the greatest predator of all on fish life. Man wouldn't be so concerned about the lamprey if the latter was content to war on less desirable fish, but both man and the sea lamprey like the best game fish," Bacon said.

He explained the state's program is providing public fishing sites for Michigan sportsmen and the thousands of visitors who come here from all over the United States for fishing.

A film, "Better Fishing in Michigan," was shown. Neal De Waard of the Holland Fish and Game club presided. A half-hour of entertainment was provided by Paul Klingenberg and his Starlighters. Next week's meeting will be on the timber harvest in Michigan.

Tom Maentz, top Dutch scorer der Wal hit 12 and Klomparsen had 11.

The winners enjoyed a slight advantage in field goal shooting. Holland hit on 24 of 73 attempts from the floor for a 33 per cent average, while the Tigers collected on 21 of 67 floor shots for a good 31 per cent mark.

In the free throw department, Holland hit 14 and missed 11, while Benton Harbor collected on 10 and missed 11 charity tosses.

Next game for Holland is next Friday at the Holland Armory, when the pesky Grand Haven outfit appears for a conference game.

From San Francisco

Grand Haven (Special)—James Bouws, 24, formerly of Holland, Muskegon and Grand Haven, who was returned to Grand Haven from San Francisco, Calif. Jan. 16 for violation of his probation, had his probation revoked by Judge Raymond L. Smith Monday afternoon. He was sentenced to serve not less than three years nor more than 15 years in the Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

On Oct. 9, 1950 Bouws was placed on probation for three years, conditions of which were that he was to report to the probation officer regularly, contribute to support of his children, and could not leave the state without consent of the court, all of which he violated. He was picked up in the California city on a vagrancy charge.

Bernard F. McAllister, 18, Grand Haven, who pleaded guilty Jan. 14 to a charge of larceny from a motor vehicle, was placed on probation Monday afternoon for 2 years. Conditions of his probation provide that he find work and keep steadily employed, leave intoxicating liquors alone, cannot leave the state without permission of the court, pay $5 a month oversight fees and make restitution of $11.50. McAllister, with a 16-year-old juvenile stripped four wheels and tires from a car parked in a vacant lot during a heavy snowstorm, Dec. 7, in Spring Lake township, which belonged to Cyrus Conrad.

Walter Hyde, 43, Muskegon, pleaded guilty Monday afternoon to a charge of cohabitation and will return for disposition Friday. The alleged offense occurred in Grand Haven city Nov. 13.

Michele, who is the father of eight children, is alleged to have passed a check in the amount of $50 drawn on the account of Edward Borchers, by whom Michele has been employed for a number of years.

The alleged offense occurred Dec. 20, at a time when Borchers had given his employee some money and presents for his children for Christmas. He is also alleged to have issued five or six other checks on Borchers' account, ranging in amounts from $30 to $70. Borchers, however, requested the court that Michele be given another chance.

Gerald Boeve and Phil Boersma dumped in the winning buckets as time ran out to cap an uphill fight by Coach Carrol Norlin's Dutchmen.

Holland zipped into a first period 7-6 lead, but Grand Haven picked up polish and led at the half 13-12. The Junior Bucs continued to dominate at the third whistle 20-18, but the Holland frosh outscored the visitors 9-6 in the final stanza to come out on top.

Guard Dave Dykstra was top scorer for Holland with eight points. Henry Visscher carded six, Boersma and Boeve five each and Chuck Gouloze got three. A tight zone defense by Grand Haven buttressed up the foul lane, and most of Holland's shots came from outcourt.

Shutte was top scorer for the Buc with eight, and Ziel had seven. The teams were about evenly matched for height.

Norlin's cagers return to action Feb. 1 at Benton Harbor. In an earlier meeting, the local frosh topped the Junior Tigers.

School English Program Aired

Teachers of English in Holland high school and Junior high school met with the Board of Education for an informal supper session Monday night in Junior high school to discuss the English program in the public school system, methods of teaching, possible improvements and general problems.

Dr. Lester J. Kuypers, member of the Board of Education, served as chairman, and Miss Marion Shackson, current chairman of the English department, introduced teachers who outlined curriculum from the time the student enters the seventh grade to the elective subjects on correlated lines in the 12th.

A reading survey of 300 ninth graders revealed a few students were on fourth and fifth grade reading levels while others were far advanced, leaving the median in the ninth grade. A similar spelling survey for the students left the median high in the seventh grade instead of the ninth grade. Continued emphasis on spelling was encouraged, and a remedial reading teacher was recommended.

Possibilities of adopting a new two-track English program designed for students who plan to continue higher education and those who terminate schooling in the 12th grade were aired. The program is under study but no decisions have been made.

Dr. Clarence De Graaf, head of the English department of Hope college, and Dr. Kuypers who is a member of the Western Theological seminary faculty, both emphasized the need for constant repetition in the parts of speech. This repetition takes many forms, particularly in the study of other languages, composition, note taking and public speaking—all of which are designed to make the student think.

A presentation on advanced literature brought out that students usually groan when Shakespeare and Dickens are mentioned, but end up loving "Tale of Two Cities" and Shakespeare's plays. Advanced subjects of public speaking, radio workshop and drama also are part of the English program and it is often in this field that the fruits of long years of pounding the parts of speech into countless heads are realized.

About 25 attended the informal session. These meetings are held usually once a month and are designed to give the board a fuller knowledge of the curriculum and the problems that confront the teaching program.

Jack Van Dorple had 19 and Ed Lugers 11 to pace the Bears. Don Miller was tops for Hotshots with 18.
